

Abstract

A system and method are provided for analyzing a shopping environment. The method typically includes tracking a plurality of paths of a plurality of persons in the shopping environment, and recording corresponding path data. The method further may include normalizing path data for each path by use of a predetermined normalization function, and calculating a predetermined statistical measure of the normalized shopping data. The method also may include producing output based upon the predetermined statistical measure.